(Sgd.) ARTHUR.

Hillcrest, Alta., June 20.—Thrilling tales are told by survivors of the Hillcrest disaster. Some describe themselves as being brought back from the dead, having fallen under the effect of black damp before reaching safety. Some heard the explosion and knew nothing subsequently till advised by others dropped to their hands and knees and crawled to safety.
There are 44 of these survivors, the latest official figures from the office of the Hillcrest Collieries, Ltd., giving 237 as entering the mine in the morning, 44 bodies taken out and 197 still remaining in the mine. It is practically certain that everyone of this latter dead.
Not a sound is heard in the mine save that made by the rescuers themselves, and the presence of a fire makes it almost impossible for them to conduct their gruesome, but self-imposed task, but still the work goes steadily on.
"Yes, I was one of the lucky rescued party," said H. Yeaden, last night, "and I lost feet as though I had been brought back from the dead. But the trouble is, I will have to go through it again, and the second time it usually gets you."
Survivor Tells Story.
"I was working in room 15 at the time of the explosion, and the difference had I never been brought to that about all I know with the exception of dropping down to the floor of the drift. Why I did that I cannot say. I can tell you I had not time to think; suppose it was just common instinct which made me do it. However, it is possible to tell to what I owe my life tonight. The next thing I knew after that was when I was told that the physicians had been using a pulmotor on me for 45 minutes; time, and feared that I would never come back, I am here to tell the tale."
"You know it must be an easy death to be suffocated with gas, for I felt no pain and would never have known the difference had I never been brought to I am glad to know that the poor fellows down there now suffer no pain. After being brought in I began to suffer, however, and even now I feel the effect of the gas, while the skin on my face is all burned up."
Immediately after his restoration, Mr. Yeaden was among the group of rescuers, and up to 1 a.m. was busily engaged in laying out the bodies as they came to the surface.

ACCUSATIONS AGAINST WHEELER AND BARRETT WITHDRAWN TODAY

A large crowd was attracted to the police court this morning in anticipation of the charges being heard against William Wheeler and Eugene Barrett. All charges were withdrawn and the men dismissed by Magistrate Macle. The reason given by the withdrawing Attorney Jefferson was lack of evidence, the necessary witnesses having left the city for parts unknown. A. G. Mackay, counsel for the defense, condemned the police department for ever having brought the charges against the men and claimed there never should have been any charges laid.

saved, had a thrilling escape to safety. Rushing with the others to the mouth of the mine he suddenly felt himself grabbed by the foot and held firmly. His heavy mining boot had caught in a frog of the track, but quickly drawing his pocket knife, he released the boot from his foot and walked to safety in his stocking feet.
Malcolm Link and Charles Jones had similar experiences in getting to safety. They were in No. 16 chute when the explosion occurred. They just heard the report as though it were a shot from a battleship. They dropped to their hands and knees and crawled to safety. Charles Ironmonger was thrown from the mine by the force of the explosion and slightly injured. He was removed to the hospital and died shortly afterwards.
Arnold Varley was another of the saved. "I just heard the report," he said, "and then rushed to safety. There were a number of others around me, and I can remember stumbling over a dead horse on the way out."
Charles Murray gave up his life in an attempt to save his two boys, who were entombed in the mine. Hearing of this he rushed in, but never came out again.
An inquiry is being held today on the bodies of those already taken from the mine, and the funeral will be held tomorrow.
This inquiry is but a formal matter in order to allow of the ready disposal of the bodies, but the inquiry proper will be held tomorrow morning, when all the bodies are recovered. A carload of coffins has been received from Calgary and Macleod.
The first rescue team to enter the mine was led from nearby mines, including G. W. Goodwin, Fred Hallett, Jolly Chase, Harrow and Bob Leavitt, one of the heroes of the day, who was very nearly overcome by the poisonous fumes, and who was compelled to go to the hospital. Other teams from Coleman, Pansburg, Bellevue, Carbonade, and practically every mine camp in the district, within a radius of a hundred miles were represented. The teams, equipped with the oxygen apparatus, were sent down in five and seven, they worked for two hours on a shift, when another party took their places. The bodies came out slowly.
Bodies Badly Disfigured.
The wash-room presented the most ghastly sight ever beheld in the entire past. Bodies were brought up in twos, and as the rescuers and others were moved from their clothing, they were recognizable, and many such a remark as "Here, old boys," was said by the rescuers, who were engaged in the ghastly task.
Many of the bodies were almost unrecognizable. Arms were torn out, and one man's head was completely blown off, while nearly every body was charred to a crisp.
Malcolm Link, one of the men who managed to escape, stated that the interior of the mine was in a terrible state. Bodies were piled in heaps, along with pieces of twisted tracks, cars, horses and mine timbers, many of which were torn from their places. Some idea of the colossal force of the explosion can be gained when it is realized that one man who was working over 800 feet away, was blown against the side of the room, and his safety lamp escaped in a tree. Not a minute of the explosion has lived, and the engineer at the hoist house, outside the mine, and several hundred feet away from the scene of the explosion, narrowly escaped death, while his building was completely demolished. It is stated that a small boy, who was in this building at the time, was blown to atoms.

Men Who Did Regina Shooting Were Carefully Shadowed While Here.
The detectives attached to the attorney-general's department are working full time in their efforts to keep down crime in the province. A number were on hand at the Hillcrest stampede, which has just been held. Extensive preparations had been made by a number of professional sharks to strip any simple-minded people whom they could induce to listen to them or to take part in their games of chance. The sharks did not, however, get the opportunity to make even their expenses, for before they could do business they were told by the provincial detectives present that their room was more desired than their company, and they were compelled to move away. CONCERTED ACTION TO RID PROVINCE OF NOBO ELEMENT

Letter Addressed to All Police Forces and Magistrates in Alberta.
MAXIMUM SENTENCE TO BE THE PUNISHMENT
Policy is to Eliminate Tramps or Make Them Earn Their Living.
As forecasted in the Capital a short time ago, a determined effort is being made to rid the province of professional hobos and tramps, it having been found that this class is responsible for most of the serious crimes that take place in Alberta.
The lead has been taken by the Attorney-General's department, and Deputy Attorney General John D. Hunt has sent out to all the police forces in the province, mounted police, city police and railway police a letter asking for concerted action in the matter. Magistrates are asked to assist by increasing the sentences imposed on this class of vagrant.
The letter which has been sent out is as follows:
Edmonton, June 19, 1914.
Sir:—The searches for the murderers in the Exshaw and Amisk tragedies have revealed the fact that there are a large number of the undesirable hobo element in the province.
While every care and consideration should be shown poor unfortunate seeking work, it is the desire of this department to eliminate professional tramps or to place them in safe keeping, where they will have to work for a living.
Under section 239 of the criminal code, under "summary convictions," a fine not exceeding $50, or imprisonment with or without hard labor, for a term not exceeding six months, or both, can be meted out for vagrancy, and if any of accused should be found in possession of guns or knives, a further punishment can be inflicted under Section 118 to 124 of the code.
Will you please act promptly in arresting, and where found guilty, in having imposed upon professional hobos and vagrants such a sentence as will lead them to give this province a wide berth and to the future. Do not hesitate to use your best efforts to have the maximum sentence imposed on all such underlings.
Copies of this letter are being sent to the chiefs of police of all the cities in the province, in the past, and to the mounted police and to all railway companies, for transmission to their police, so that concerted action may be taken to clean up the province.
I have the honor to be, your obedient servant,
JOHN D. HUNT,
Deputy Attorney General.

Local and outside people are still filling on the matter of the Birch Lake, Nakamun districts and indications are that before many days have passed, drilling will be in progress in the fields located in every direction from Edmonton.
The Alberta Beaumont company, in which Mayor McNamara and other local capitalists are interested, and which has holdings in the Gt. Oakes, Monarch and Birch Lake districts, has ordered a drilling outfit and it is expected that it will be working today, merged in one or more of the fields as soon as the machinery can be laid out around.
Calgary, June 20.—It was learned here last evening that reports were circulating in Edmonton, Vancouver and other western points to the effect that oil had been struck yesterday in the McDougall-Segur and Black Diamond wells. There is no foundation for these reports, according to Mr. Dougall of the McDougall-Segur company, who was interviewed last night. The reports were a mere current of calumny and caused quite a flurry here for several hours.

Reports reached Edmonton from Calgary last night that the Segur had struck a gusher, and they caused a decided flurry in several stocks, notably Stokes-Stevens, which has three oil wells adjoining the McDougall-Segur. This stock closed on the Calgary exchange yesterday at 21 cents, but many sales took place here last night, several of them after midnight, at around 41.25 and 41.50. In Calgary prices were even higher, and sales were made for as high as 52.50.

EXCHANGE TO OPEN WITH REAL "PIT" ONE HUNDRED SEATS.
V. H. Snodgrass, of the oil exchange, 40 Jasper east, has practically completed arrangements to open an exchange in Edmonton, with a real "pit" and everything that modern stock exchange can boast of. It is proposed to have 100 seats, the opening price to be $100 a share, with extra charges for booths, which will be located along the side of the pit. The exchange will be virtually two exchanges in one, as on one side will be the Calgary prices, with direct wires to that city, and on the other the quotations of companies in the central and northern portions of the province, with direct wires to them. There are two or three different locations in view and the change is expected to be running very shortly. Already a large number of prominent business men are applying for seats and booths.

There now seems to be no doubt that the Alberta oil boom is a fact of country, and that Edmonton will be the eventual center of the greatest operations.
Following last night's rumor that the Segur had struck a gusher, there was a great deal of trading and morning it had by no means ceased. In fact, although the report of a gusher was denied, the stocks of some of the companies showed decided tendencies to go up.
Stokes-Stevens, which had the greatest movement last night, this morning went from 22 cents to 38 and 40 on the Calgary exchange. The Union Pacific treasury stock is said to be off the market at Calgary and it is going strong at 50 cents in Edmonton today. The Union Pacific company has holdings near both the Segur and Monarch.
Progress is still selling fast. This is the company which has 480 acres close to the Monarch well, and is separate small holdings in the Okeoks fields. The officials of the company state that it is drilling out in the Okeoks field at the same time, one on each holding and many fear that in this way shareholders have "chances to one" heavy filing continues.

GERMANY'S WORTHLESS GAIN.

Another important step in the senseless hope of the complete Germanization of the Alsace-Lorraine was announced in an army order, according to which the men of Alsace-Lorraine liable to military service will henceforth be assigned to regiments outside of the conquered provinces.

The authorities blame the Alsatian agitators who served in the ranks of the 99th infantry at Zabern last year for this army versus the people conflict, declaring that they divulged the "Wackes" incident and other barracks secrets in anti-German quarters. It is desired to make such men do their army service in the future far away from what the police president of Berlin called "almost the enemy's country."

All this shows that Germany has failed to obtain the consent of the governed to her annexation of Alsace and Lorraine. The disturbances at Zabern prove that she has failed, and they show why. There is, to begin with, an instinctive repugnance of the people to German rule. This is met by the German military authorities with a course of action which constantly reminds the Alsaians and Lorrainers that they are a conquered people. The people are German subjects by compulsion only; the allegiance of their hearts is still given to France. After more than forty years of German rule, the people are not yet really annexed to Germany.

The annexation could only have been made effective by return to the barbarous methods of ancient times—by reducing the people to slavery, by deporting them wholesale and scattering them among the German people or by exterminating them. The conscience of Germany revolted against any of these methods of rendering the two provinces truly German. Had it not, the outraged public opinion of the civilized world would have forbidden them. Being determined to hold the territory, Germany had the choice between two alternatives—gentleness and liberal rule to win the allegiance of the people gradually, or stern military repression to keep them in subjection. The German temper is not prone to conciliation, but the opposition of the civil authorities to the outrageous acts of the military at Zabern indicates that some effort to follow the former policy has been made, yet the attitude of the garrison has thwarted it. The military spirit is averse to conciliation and its outward display has served continually to remind the people that their rulers are aliens.

While the German government has continued to hold the two provinces by force alone, the spirit of democracy has been spreading among the German people. The brutalities of Zabern are revolting to their ideas of liberty, and the Reichstag has expressed its condemnation. That body may embarrass the government by refusing to vote the budget, though the power of the Kaiser is such that he may be able to carry on the administration notwithstanding. But were he to defy the Reichstag, he would but aggravate the crisis and start a fire of opposition which might end in the restriction of his autocratic power.

The annexation of Alsace and Lorraine was a blunder from the viewpoint of Germany's own interest. It has immeasurably weakened the empire. It has kept alive in France the desire for revenge and recovery of the lost provinces and has caused the republic to arm and to seek and find allies. It has forced Germany to assume a military burden which is wasting her strength and is poisoning the minds of the people with a desire for military glory. It has drawn together France, England and Russia, for it has taught them what they might expect if Germany were to outmatch them. It has thus led to the present mad race for naval supremacy, into which the United States has been drawn. It has caused Germany to turn a deaf ear to all suggestions of disarmament or even of a cessation of new armament.

Were Germany wise and could she pocket her pride by acknowledging her error, she would voluntarily return the ravished provinces to France. By so doing Germany would not only be relieved of the fruitless task of keeping them in subjection, but would by that one act end the resentment of France and gain credit among the generous French people for national magnanimity. Two great nations which have been scowling at each other across their fortifications might be expected to fly into each other's arms like brothers long separated. The necessity for frontier forts and garrisons would pass away, for Germany's act would establish a precedent which the civilized world would never break. The new spirit thus shown to animate Germany would calm the fears of other nations. Germany could then safely take the initiative in a movement to disarm, or at least to reduce armaments to proportions sufficient only to police the world and restrain the barbarous and semi-barbarous nations.

PANAMA CANAL TOLLS.

The repeal of the tolls exemption clause in the Panama act adds to the personal victories of President Wilson. The victory would do more to give added international prestige to the United States, to increase respect both at home and abroad for her statesmen, and to inspire confidence in her foreign policy, than all the logical subtlety and verbose oratory which would have been expended in an explanation of an opposite Panama Canal policy.

There has been much recrimination in the debate in the senate and a vast amount of talk from the advocates of free tolls, which had it represented the opinion of the American people, would bode ill to the future of Anglo-American friendship.

It may be well to point out that long before the question became really acute in the United States, some notably impartial British papers were inclined to lean to the interpretation which permitted of free tolls. It was not because they were sure that the Hay-Pauncefote treaty disallowed such discrimination that many of the able advocates of equal tolls took that ground, but because they refused to make an interpretation which was utterly opposed to the spirit and the object of the treaty.

The Adventures of Kathlyn

By Harold MacGrath.

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS CHAPTERS.
Kathlyn Hale, believing her father, Col. Hale, in jail, has summoned her lover, her husband in California to go to him in Alaska. Unhappily, the letter to the colonel, named by the late king as his heir, because the late king's American wife insisted on his royal rights. Upon her arrival in Alaska, Kathlyn is informed by Unhappily that her father is dead and that she is the heiress to a vast estate. When the crown is placed upon her head she finds that she is the only one who has remained loyal to him. Her refusal to accept the throne is a strong appeal to the people who yield the point for the time being. She is assured that no woman will rule unshared, but because the young queen is not conversant with the laws of the state she will be given seven days to decide.

When Kathlyn reiterates, at the expiration of the week of grace, her refusal to marry Unhappily she receives sentence from the king's advisers to be banished to the island of Albatross with wild beasts. If she survives she is permitted to rule without hindrance.

Through the pluck and resourcefulness of John, her friend, and the help of a passenger on the boat which brought Kathlyn to Alaska, who has come to her assistance, she escapes unharmed from the two officers and three soldiers sent from Alaska. The elephant which carries her becomes friendly and she escapes, separating her from Bruce and the rest of the party.

After a ride filled with peril she takes refuge in the home of a friendly Indian and villagers, believing her to be an ancient princess from the land of the sacred fire. But Kathlyn is forced to flee from it with the savage bear in pursuit. She escapes and finds a refuge in the jungle, only to fall into the hands of a band of slave traders, who bring her to Alaska to the public mart. She is sold to a man, Unhappily, who is a cruel and unscrupulous, throws her into the dungeon with her father.

Bruce and his friends effect the release of Kathlyn, but their attempt to rescue her from the hands of the slave traders is unsuccessful. The police of Albatross. The same night she is freed while Unhappily is in the most perilous position in Albatross.

Supplied with canoes and servants by the king, Kathlyn and her friends start on their journey to the coast. The party is overtaken and taken captive by the slave traders. The leader, recognizing the colonel, dispatches Unhappily and his men to the island of Albatross to bring her back. Kathlyn, for the white king, his daughter, is the only one who has remained loyal to the king. The colonel is delivered to him and no orders that Kathlyn and Bruce be killed.

As he stared Unhappily surrendered to a passing dream. Presently he shook himself, sought the chain for which he had come, and reluctantly stepped out into the corridor again. He would return soon to this door, but for that, for a while, he would have opened this door long since. As he walked to the outer door he thought briefly of the beauty of Kathlyn. She was dead, and dead likewise was his passion for her.

Beyond the gates to the garden of brides, Ahmed and Lal Singh waited with elephants. From here they would make the north gate, transfer to new elephants, and leave the island. The schemes behind. They created no suspicion. There were many elephants about the palace this day. In one of the howdahs sat Bruce, armed; in the other, Pundita, trembling with dread. So many times had he seen the king's elephants, that he did not believe all was well till they had crossed the frontier.

"They will be coming soon, Sahib," said Ahmed.

Bruce wiped the sweat from his palms and nodded. Now, when Unhappily and his captives, Ahmed and Lal Singh, were to be taken to the island, he did not firmly close the outer door, which shut off the palace from the outside world. The elephants were immediately freed and began their prowling through the corridors. The king's elephants, when they scented the air through which the two men had just passed. One passed by the door, immediately thrusting out a paw. The door gave.

In the throne room the mockery of the betrothal was gone through, and the king and queen were seated. The king, who had the hour for escape was at hand; for everywhere, now that the ceremony was done, vigilance would be lax.

Immediately the high priest announced that the successful candidate would be conducted to the palace grounds and confined there till the final ceremonies were over.

Unhappily dreamed of what he had seen. To Ramahab was given the exalted honor of conducting the king and his betrothed to their respective quarters. One in the private passageway to the harem, or serana, Ramahab threw caution to the winds.

"We must go by a roundabout way to the garden of brides, which will be deserted. Outside the gate Bruce, Sahib and Ahmed and Lal Singh await with elephants. Once we can join them we are safe. And in a month's time I shall return."

Meantime one of the leopard keepers rushed frantically into the throne room, exclaiming that the king's elephants were at large. Even as he spoke one of the leopards appeared in the garden. The king, who followed was not to be described. A wild scramble ensued towards all exits.

The fugitives entered the royal serana. Kathlyn proceeded at once to the exit which led to the garden of brides. There she waited for her father and Ramahab, who had paused by the door of one of the serana chambers. Between them and Kathlyn lay the plume.

Ramahab addressed the lady of the serana, telling her that if good fortune should come, to state that Kathlyn was concealed in her own chamber. To this the young woman freely agreed.

The greatest authority of oil in this field, Mr. E. H. Cunningham Craig, says, "and the best is yet to come." That's patent to any man familiar with conditions in this territory now. The undecided investor is lingering between his desire to make money and a fear of a possible slump in prices. In the meantime the wells are going down. One well has struck enormous quantities of oil of a grade perhaps finer than that produced by any other well in the world. This well has produced two thousand gallons in eighteen minutes. As soon as one other well goes in in a different part of the field there will be a wild rush for stocks and the prices will shoot upward. Those who get in on the ground floor now, and buy stock at present prices will participate in the millions which will surely be made within a few days after the next well becomes a producer.

THE CALGARY ALBERTA PETROLEUM CO., LTD. (no personal liability) is by far the biggest company operating in the field. It controls at the present time 2,000 acres of oil land in practically proven areas. In addition it has obligated itself to buy for the benefit of its stockholders, 7,000 acres additional, having ample funds to carry on its developments and to acquire additional choice properties as are offering. Its success is a foregone conclusion.

The men at the head of this organization are men who have already made good in the oil fields of Alberta and their O.K. on properties of the Company is proof positive that these properties are all that an investor could desire. The Company is organized along conservative lines with ample capitalization and resources to carry through everything it plans. Under such circumstances the investor is sure of substantial returns on the money invested.

A limited issue of stock is now offered at 50 cents per share, par value $1. Unquestionably this stock will promptly go to par or above when the next well goes in. Before that time you should invest if you desire to make a quick dollar from two dollars. After that time your expectations of big quick profits will be constantly lessened.

For your convenience a coupon is enclosed herewith. Fill this out for the number of shares you desire to buy, writing your name and address plainly in full. Your certificate will be issued promptly. We cannot guarantee the present price of 50 cents from one day to another under present conditions in Calgary, so the only way to avoid disappointment is to make your order at once.

CABIN DOOR PICKED UP WILL BE SHOWN

Lord Mersey Thinks Water Tight Compartments Filled First Blow.

Quebec, June 20.—The alleged defective steering gear of the Empress of Ireland and the rapidly with which she went to the bottom of the St. Lawrence after being struck by the collier Storstad on May 29, formed the two conspicuous details connected with the calamity inquired into yesterday by the Dominion commission sitting in the town house. On the first of these two points evidence was submitted by a number of sailors and pilot Napoleon Tappere, who were on the collier Allen, which was passing the Empress around the time that she was said to be steering badly by James Francis Galway, a quartermaster, who claimed yesterday that the liner's helm jammed for three minutes on the night of the disaster. Three witnesses agreed that the Empress, as the pilot put it, zig-zagged down the river, though they all agreed to confess that while still a good distance away she snowed red to red in conformity with navigation laws and passed more than a cable's length away.

A discussion on the ownership of the Allen and the Storstad arose while the testimony was being put in, as both carried coal for the Dominion Coal company, and it was found that they were chartered to this concern by different agents and do not belong to the same firm.

On the bulkhead question the evidence showed that the water rushed into the liner in tremendous quantities and in a few moments had reached within eight feet of the top of her water-tight compartments. Lord Mersey said that a few days ago he had concluded that the ship had the two water-tight compartments, which she could float with filled, opened up by the first blow of the nose of the collier. The Empress' watertight compartments, he said, had been damaged by the first blow, and that therefore nothing could have saved the vessel.

A piece of small, but substantial evidence, corroborating the conclusion of Captain Kendall that his ship was struck amidships will be put in as an exhibit today. It is a first class cabin door with number 325 on it, and was picked up on the Storstad. The only cabin of this number was on the starboard side of the ship near the first funnel and some 15 feet from the stern.

Late yesterday afternoon, Jacob Saxe, the third officer of the Storstad, another eye-witness of the disaster, gave his evidence in brief, and his phase of tomorrow morning's proceedings.

Exchange of regrets and compliments between C. R. Haight and Lord Mersey yesterday morning enabled the court to open its proceedings with none of the electricity which was in the air

U.S. POLICE CHIEFS

DROP W. J. BURNS OFF THEIR HONORARY LIST

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 20.—At the convention of police chiefs yesterday William J. Burns, the detective, was dropped from honorary membership in the association. In addition it was ordered that all police chiefs, detectives and other officers who are not members of the association and who use its official insignia on their stationery without permission should be legally prosecuted.

No official reason was given for dropping Burns, but it was stated by members of the association that a majority of the delegates informally decided to eliminate him and to do so the honorary membership list was revised and Burns' name omitted. Several times during the convention police chiefs criticized statements which Burns was alleged to have made concerning police methods. His attitude in the Leo Frank murder case, which he investigated in Georgia, also brought forth rather caustic comment from some of the delegates.

NATIONALISTS WANT FREEDOM TO IMPORT ARMS FOR VOLUNTEERS

London, June 20.—The "Irish Volunteer," the official organ of the Nationalist volunteers, states that nearly 200,000 Irishmen are now drilling and arming with the avowed object of achieving and protecting Irish freedom, now that Mr. Redmond has pointed out that volunteers are a political necessity.

"We may look forward confidently," says the paper, "to a withdrawal of the proclamation forbidding the importation of arms. If the proclamation cannot be lifted, it must be fought by some means, but we must have the guns."

The journal declares that at least sixty thousand of the men are capable of using rifles and describes the proclamation as an insult and a menace. Unless Mr. Redmond votes it, a loud outcry will be raised by the volunteers, and political organizations throughout the country during the next two weeks.

Mr. DeWitt left for Belfast last night to superintend the organization.

Iren Irwin has been sent to jail for 30 days in Baltimore, Md., for spanking his wife.

John Burroughs, the naturalist, does not use tobacco in any form.

To Keep Skin in Fine Condition All Summer

It would be much better for the skin if little cream, powder or rouge were used during the heated term. Since these are anything but beneficial, ordinary methods will do more harm for the complexion, and without giving an oily streaked, spotted or dirty appearance. SOME POINTERS ON PALMISTRY

The hands show the owner's characteristics as strongly as do the face and head. A general idea of the character of the person may be gained from the following lines on palmistry:

Smooth, curved fingers are a sign of loving lines on palmistry. Strong, knotted fingers show pride and capacity. A palm too slim, narrow, and feeble indicates instinct without capacity. If the palm is too large, the person is one of animal-like.

If the outer joint of the fingers form a knot, the person has well arranged ideas. The individual who has knots at the middle joints of the fingers always has a place for everything and everything in its place.

The person whose fingers are smooth and pointed is guided wholly by intuition and never has a reason for what he does. The hard, wrinkled hand which is open to the full extent of the fingers shows intractability, a mind without clarity.

Large hands mean a close attention to minute details. Broad nails show the owner to be haphazard and gentle.

FASHION'S FANCIES IN FOOTWEAR.

The fan shaped plait and the rosette are the prominent trimmings of the shoes and evening shoe now, and the place to wear them is at one side of the shoe instead of in the center.

Embossed, gold and silver tissue, and ribbon are used for the plait, and furnish a chance for the lady or velvet background employed lately for the purpose.

The value of the buckles makes the pumps "without ornaments" necessary when the price of the footwear is stated. They are copies in many cases of old designs and some are so cleverly contrived that they look really antique.

Footwear brands have been found so comfortable for horse footing that they are in high favor, and the short, round toe is popular, the rosettes and ornaments making a fine contrast for the paucity of covering on the instep.

SEEN IN PARIS.

White crepe in an embroidered design is used for one pretty summer gown.

Flounces and pleats are shown on the new bathing suits. They are pretty without being full enough to interfere with swimming.

Embroidery and designs, and a blending of white tissues, plain or plain dots, are characteristics of the correct blouse.

One of the latest novelties in the form of a complete costume is composed of striped crepe, the stripes running horizontally in the upper skirt, and vertically in the main skirt and corse.

With the days of sunshine becoming the rule, Paris is hurrying into brightening in gowns of white linen or white crepe. A black belt or sometimes a black bolero is worn, too.

Among the latest ribbons are several of waterproof variety for millinery purposes.

Roses of tawny orange, the tawny color, are now made of silk for carriage wear. An open bloom is made almost flat.

Have you seen the new headed heel? Little tiny heads of different colors are used side by side. For instance two shades of pink and white, or blue, yellow and white.

CONTROL OF SEX HAS PASSED EXPERIMENTAL STAGE SAYS DR. RIDDLE

Atlantic City, N.J., June 20.—That the artificial control of sex has passed the experimental stage was the statement made yesterday by Dr. Oscar Riddle, in charge of the evolution station of the Carnegie Institute. He declared that the American people, through medicine, which opened its twenty-sixth annual meeting here yesterday, the station is preparing sex at will with ligatures and drugs. "Oscar Riddle. 'The sex of frogs and tadpoles is settled by manipulation and that of cattle, to some extent, can be regulated through fixing the mating period.'"

As to human beings, he declared, the control of sex control would depend upon the success now being secured by scientific experiments with mammals and he would not be surprised if eventual success was achieved.

LABOR CONDITIONS IN DOMINION ARE ON THE UP GRADE

Review of the Labor Situation in Canada by the Labor Gazette Shows Improvement as Season Advances—Ontario Short of Experienced Men on Farms—Reports From Various Trade Centers in Alberta.

Increased activity prevailed in the labor market during April as compared with the previous months of the year, says the Labor Gazette. The improvement, however, was not as marked as usual. A feature of the month was the cold and broken weather which hindered agriculture and transportation. Steadiness in the western provinces was general after April 20, and about sixty per cent. was completed. Later than in the preceding year, the seed bed was in excellent condition owing largely to the favorable weather last fall. Live stock and fall wheat wintered well and orchards show satisfactory promise. There was an unsatisfied demand for experienced men in some parts of Ontario. The weather was unfavorably for fishing, and small catches were reported, particularly on the Atlantic coast. On the Fraser river considerable activity was noted. Men were engaged for the lumber drives, and in some parts saw mills were active, but the lumber industry in general was quiet. There was a falling off in the coal trade of Nova Scotia; the western coal mines, however, maintained good output, and the metalliferous mines of British Columbia showed increased activity after the usual winter dullness. Manufacturing was more active than in March, but no tendency was shown towards increasing staffs or hours of labor. Active operations were commenced in railway construction, and many men were engaged for the various camps. The opening of navigation at the latter end of the month gave employment to several men who had been out of work during the winter months. Railway traffic was not as heavy as usual at this season. There was considerably more employment among members of the building trades, but the increased activity was not as marked as usual. There was a decrease in the number of immigrants arriving from Europe.

Edmonton

There was little change in labor conditions in April as compared with March, except that due to the advance of the season. The building trades continued quiet during the greater part of the month, but showed increased activity towards the close, though many men in all lines still remained unemployed. Manufacturing conditions were practically unchanged. While civil work has absorbed some of the unemployed unskilled labor, a large number remained out of work.

A local union of laborers was formed with a charter from the Yod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers' Union of North America.

Through an advertisement in the press the bricklayers and masons union has notified the public that on and after May 1 the rate of wages for bricklayers and masons will be seventy-five cents an hour.

During the latter part of the month farmers were busy seeding, and they report that the land is in good condition for cultivation. The contractors have started work on the new market building which will cost about $50,000. By request of the local union of the United Farmers of Alberta, the city officials are erecting a temporary building on the old market square, the farmers claiming that the present accommodations were inadequate.

Calgary

The building trades showed no improvement over last month, little building being done. Several stores and new premises are unoccupied. A number are employed taking down the old buildings on the site for the new post office. Steps are being taken by the city to arrange transfer of a portion of Mettewa Park for the army site. Applicants for employment at the Civic Labor Bureau have been informed that very few men will be given employment this year on city work.

Owing to the large number of skilled and unskilled men who are unemployed in the city it is advisable that immigration to this part should be curtailed as much as possible.

Medicine Hat

There was little change in the number of men employed in the building trades from last month. The present month compared unfavorably with April of last year. Work in the building line seems slow in coming. There was some demand for unskilled labor on civic improvements such as cement sidewalks, sewers, etc., but the supply was equal to the demand.

The electrical workers are submitting an agreement to the city looking to better wages and working conditions.

Wholesalers and retailers report trade as only fair.

No improvement was shown in the condition of the labor market compared with last month. The supply of labor exceeded the demand. Farmers generally were not engaging as much help as usual, and there was no railroad work in operation. The usual increased activity in the trades was not noticed. Bank clearings were lower than last year; wholesale and retail trade remained about the same as last year. No change was recorded in hours or wages. The city commissioners have considered the question of running electric cars with one man in charge instead of two, and the question is likely to be submitted to a referendum vote of the voters of the

CONSTRUCTION ON CANADIAN RAILROADS AND LABOR MARKET

The employment of railroad construction laborers was greater in April with the advent of spring weather, and several large gangs were working on the various projects in course of construction. Construction on the Port Arthur division of the Canadian Northern Railway gave employment to upwards of 200 laborers. The gangs working on the Kettle Valley Railway were augmented during April, and there are nearly 2,000 men employed on that line at the present time. It is estimated that 700 miles of railway will be constructed in Alberta during the present year; this includes the Peace River branch of the Canadian Northern Railway, the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway, Alberta and Great Waterways Railway, the Calgary and Pincher Creek line of the Canadian Northern Railway. It was recently announced that during the coming summer about 3,000 men will be employed on the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway from Edmonton to Fort McMurray. About 1,000 men are now at work in Alberta on Canadian Pacific Railway construction. A feature of the month was the arrival at Prince Rupert of the first Grand Trunk Pacific train from Winnipeg. It is stated that the Canadian Northern Railway will enter Westburn this summer by building a spur from their line running through the country south of Westburn, and known as the Mayfield branch of the Canadian Northern Railway.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS IN MARCH THIS YEAR SHOWED REDUCTION

During March, 1914, there was a decrease in the total value of imports entered for consumption into the Dominion of Canada, as compared with the corresponding month of 1913, the amounts being respectively $4,520,229 and $4,290,336. For the 12 months ended March 31, 1914, the value of imports showed a decrease of $41,653,959 over the corresponding period of the previous year. The total value of domestic exports during March, 1914, amounted to $2,261,924, a decrease of $5,173,726 compared with the same month of 1913. The 12 months domestic exports during the 12 months ended March 31, 1914, was $42,558,558, as compared with $25,754,000 for the corresponding period of the previous year. During March there was an increase in the products of the mine, the fisheries, the forest, animals and their products, manufactures and miscellaneous merchandise, and a decrease in the domestic exports of the products of agriculture.

Farmers were busy, the weather being good. Coal mining retained its usual activity. The Canadian Pacific Railway had a force of about 100 men employed in raising the grade to pass over the proposed railway at 1315 street. Apart from this there was no railroad construction work in the neighborhood.

BOILERMAKERS' DISPUTE WITH GRAND TRUNK

Board of Conciliation Presents Majority and Minority Reports.

DEMAND FOR BETTER WAGES AND CONDITIONS Employees Are Willing to Accept Recommendations if Acted Upon.

The Minister of Labor has received the majority and minority reports of the Board of Conciliation and Investigation to which had been referred for adjustment certain matters in dispute between the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway company and machinists and boilermakers, members of the International Association of Machinists, Lodges Nos. 481 and 568, and the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders of America, Lodge No. 523. The majority report was signed by the chairman and Mr. Thos. J. Murray, the employees' nominee, the minority report by Mr. Wm. Cross, member appointed on the recommendation of the company.

The application in this matter stated that there were 700 employees directly affected by the dispute, and 1,000 indirectly; also, that the dispute related to a demand on the part of the employees for increased wages and improved working conditions.

The board was established by the minister on November 22, and was constituted as follows: Honorable Mr. Justice Alex. Haggart, Winnipeg, Man., chairman, appointed by the minister in the absence of any joint recommendation from the other members of the board; Mr. Wm. Cross, Winnipeg, Man., company's nominee, and Mr. Thos. J. Murray, Winnipeg, Man., employees' nominee.

The board, in its report, stated that at the commencement of the proceedings the employees agreed to accept the award provided the company would also agree to do so; this, however, the company did not see its way clear to do. Meetings were held between the company and the men, the board adjourning for a month to permit of negotiation. The result of these meetings was that the many questions in dispute were reduced to less than half a dozen important issues. The board recommended that the rules and regulations now in force for workmen in the motive power and car departments of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway should be amended insofar as machinists, boilermakers and the apprentices and helpers of both trades were concerned by the addition and incorporation of the articles contained in the schedule submitted by the board, the same to remain in effect for one year from April 1, 1914, and thereafter from year to year unless either party gives notice in writing 30 days prior to the 1st of April in any year. The board recommended, also, that a higher standard of education and mechanical ability be required of an apprentice before entering upon his apprenticeship.

Mr. Wm. Cross, in his minority report, dissented from the findings of the majority of the board, and gave his reasons why present conditions should prevail.

The department received, on April 21, a letter on behalf of the employees, stating that it would be agreeable to them to accept the board's recommendations, and that the dispute would be adjusted accordingly, provided the recommendations were put into operation.

CANADIAN WOOLLEN INDUSTRY GIVES LABOR TO 14,000

There are now 230 woolen manufacturing plants in Canada. All told, these plants employ 688 males on salary and 120 females, while the number of men employed on wages is 14,000. Of these, 5,888, and of children 527. Eighty-six men and ninety-six women are piece workers. For the calendar year 1910 the value of the total output was about $20,000,000. Woollen and knitted goods accounted for $13,293,554 of this amount, woollen goods for $5,738,773, and the yarns for $7,554,781. Wool carding and pulling accounted for something more than $500,000.

Canadian Shipping.

According to the report of the registrar of shipping which has just been issued, 244 vessels, valued at $1,180,000, and with the total tonnage of 30,164 were registered in Canada last year. The amount of capital now invested in Canadian shipping is $26,208,500, and the number of vessels 8,545. The number of men and boys employed in the marine service is 42,368. Steamers number 3,347, with a tonnage of 711,512.

VERY HIGH GRADE COAL DISCOVERED WEST OF EDMONTON

A coal discovery which may prove to be of the greatest value to Edmonton city and district has been made west of the city at a location not yet made public. The outstanding feature about this product is that it tests practically as high in heat producing qualities as the best anthracite. Samples received by Gas Engineer James Brodie, analyzed as follows:

British Thermal Units 14,500
Moisture 2 per cent.
Volatility 16.4 per cent.
Fixed Carbon 75.9 per cent.
Ash 6.7 per cent.

The same analysis shows that some of the best coal now mined in the Edmonton district tests as follows:

B. T. U. 10,600
Moisture 17.68 per cent.
Volatility 33.18 per cent.
Fixed Carbon 41.74 per cent.
Ash 7.49 per cent.

The very best anthracite tests only about 15,000 to 17,000 B.T.U., so that the new coal from the west is almost the same grade.

MORE ROYAL ACADEMY SUCCESSES ACHIEVED BY CITY'S STUDENTS

First girls, Jane Brookfield; first boys, Fred Musky; second girls, Jessie McCurdy; second boys, Clarence Philip, and many gained reward cards. At the close the results of "The Associated Board of the Royal Academy of Music," London, England, were read—Miss Digby entered seven candidates, all passed with good marks. Elementary—Frederick Musky; Primary—Donald Philip (distinction), Hilda Gold (distinction), Clarence Philip, Gladys Musky, Frank McArthur, Charlie Musky. Most of the above pupils have learnt only nine months.

and hour. It is steady this morning at 50 cents; in fact, so sure are the McDougall-Segur people and others close by of striking oil when drilling progresses a little further, that none of the stocks are showing big declines so far. It is reported from Calgary this morning that operations are to begin again today at the Monarch, the well west of Idle which struck heavy black oil Wednesday morning. President William Georgeon of the company has been at Calgary ordering special machinery which has already been shipped.

Activities at the Monarch have caused an upward trend in all stocks with holdings near that well. Progress is still selling at 19 cents and yesterday 30,000 shares were sold in Calgary. The local agents, Edmonton Oil Exchange, 40 Jasper street, also report large sales. This concern traded over $5,000 worth of Stokes-Stevens after 2 o'clock last night and were still trading at 1 o'clock this morning. Large crowds are eagerly waiting at the office for news by direct wire from the Calgary exchange.

The Capital has just received a special wire from Calgary to the effect that the Alliance Oil company, of this city, has purchased a lease close to the Monarch, on an anticline between Monarch and Dugmore, the two producers so far. This, will, no doubt, bring a big demand for the stock of this company, which is headed by local men.

CLAIMS $10,000 DAMAGE TO LOT FROM THE CITY

Former Constable on South Side Contends Overhead Bridge Lessens Value.

MATTER LIKELY TO GO TO ARBITRATION

Acting-Mayor East and the City Commissioners Look Over the Location.

F. Harris, formerly a constable on the south side force, but now residing at "Tullahoma, Florida," is claiming damages from the city to the extent of $10,000, for alleged depreciation in value of a certain lot situated near the C.P.R. The nature of the claim is in connection with a certain lot, which he is the owner, situated near the C.P.R. approach to the station at North and Victoria.

The lot is a corner one, and access is cut off materially, it is claimed, by the presence of the bridge alongside the lot frontage on Victoria avenue.

Acting Mayor East and the commissioners made an inspection of the same yesterday. It is felt that the claim is entirely out of any proportion that might be reasonable. The matter will likely be referred to a board of arbitration, which will be appointed by the Commissioner Saunders the first of week.

Mr. Harris, who is at present in Edmonton, is desirous of arriving at a speedy adjustment, being anxious to return to his home at as early a date as possible.

PAID VISIT TO CITY DAIRY AND INSPECT PLANT

A representative party of civic officials, members of the board of trade and prominent business men paid a visit to the Edmonton City Dairy yesterday afternoon. Through the courtesy of Manager Edmund, the visitors were shown over the entire plant, witnessing a practical demonstration of the various equipment that is installed. This enterprising dairy which is one of Edmonton's foremost industries is daily producing, at the present time, 32,000 pounds of butter and 8,000 quarts of milk. No less than 1,000 farmers in this district are given patronage and afforded a market by the company.

UNITED AIDS MEET; GENERAL SECRETARY IS NAMED FOR WORK

The council of the United Aid society met in the civic council chamber last evening to elect officers for the ensuing year and to consider the advisability of amalgamating with the Edmonton Welfare association.

It was unanimously decided, after some discussion, that it would be to the best interests of both bodies if the United Aid retained its identity, although working in harmony with the Welfare association as a separate organization.

It was also decided to open central offices as soon as suitable quarters can be obtained, and a committee was appointed to look further into this matter.

Mr. Anne Newall, who was appointed general secretary, has had considerable experience in social work. Some years ago she represented Dr. John Clifford's church on the board of the charity organizations for Paddington, London. Later she was connected with Dr. Barnardo's work; and has also acted as secretary for Mrs. Hancombe Wallis' work for ill-dressed children at Reigate, England. While in Oregon, from whence she removed here last summer, Mrs. Newall was for several years vice-president of the state W.C.T.U. She has written several articles dealing with social questions for newspapers from time to time.

The new general secretary stated this morning that the society would be developed along the lines of the famous Eberfield system, which has had such remarkable success in Germany. Mrs. Newall said that the constitution of the local society was practically identical with that of the German body, although, at the time the Edmonton United Aid was formed, its organizers were not acquainted with that fact.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, R. T. Williamson; first vice-president, Dr. H. Darling; second vice-president, Dr. H. Darling; secretary-treasurer, A. M. Jeffers.

Opening at Blackfords.

Industrial Commissioner Hall is receipt of communication from the resident minister at Blackfords, Alberta, pointing out the splendid opportunity that exists in that town for a first-class boarding house.

The letter states that transient travel through the town often reaches the 100 mark daily. At the present time there is no accommodation whatever. There are two buildings available which could be converted for such use. There may be secured at a very reasonable rental. Blackfords is 50 miles east of Edmonton, on the C.P.R.

NO QUORUM FOR SPECIAL MEETING

Increase of Telephone Rates Again Failed to Come Before Council Today.

PROPERTY OWNERS FOR IT

Advocate Raising Both Business and Residence Phones to Cover Deficit.

The city council failed to muster a quorum today at the special meeting called for 12:30 noon, by Acting Mayor East, to deal with the question of increased telephone rates. Only five members of the council were present: Acting Mayor East, Aldermen Sheppard, Smith, Clarke and Campbell.

The following letter has been forwarded to the mayor and city council by the Property Owners' association, commencing the increase.

June 14, 1914.
To the Municipal Council,
City of Edmonton.

Gentlemen:—The following resolution was unanimously passed at our regular executive meeting last evening. I have been requested to forward you a copy of same.

Resolved, moved by Mr. J. H. Picard, seconded by Mr. Robert Lee: That this association advise the city council that we are in favor of an increase in the rates of both residence and business telephones, sufficient to ensure complete recovery of the requirements of the department, and to cover the present deficit within a reasonable time, and also maintain a capable and efficient management so that a good service may be rendered to the subscribers.

The following resolution was passed at the meeting of the Edmonton Property Owners' Association.

(Sgd.) R. E. McKenzie, Sec. "It is very gratifying to find that Acting Mayor East to the Capital representative this morning, to have the endorsement of property holders in the city on this matter."

WELL KNOWN SEATTLE BONIFACE IS STRUCK WITH THIS COUNTRY

A. Cheahrie Mitchell, proprietor of the Savoy hotel, Seattle, which advertises itself as "the only hotel in the city," was in the city yesterday and spent a busy day motoring with Robert McDonald of the Seaside hotel.

Almost everybody has heard of the famous Savoy, which is a favorite resort of travelers and is well known in the hotel fraternity throughout the country.

He was much struck by the C.P.R. and the new Pacific Hotel of the C.P.R. It was even more taken with Edmonton and particularly with the new G.T.P. hotel, the Chateau MacDonald, is finished, it will be well patronized, with no loss to the other first class hotels of the city.

Some of the decorations in the Savoy were put in by the hotelier, brother, Teddie Bell, Edmonton. Mr. Huber went to Seattle from Chicago especially for the occasion.

Regarding Seattle, Mr. Mitchell stated that it would feel beneficial effects from the completion of the Canadian railway, which is to be built by the United States government at a cost of $40,000,000 or more. Seattle would be the supply depot for practically all the material and equipment used in building it.

Tourist traffic is expected to be good on the coast this year, and next year, of course, during the summer months, when the California tourists, it ought to be a record breaker.

Mr. Mitchell left last night for Calgary, where he will go to Moose Jaw, Regina, Winnipeg, Minneapolis and St. Paul, and then back to Seattle via Vancouver and the States.

SAYS BROUSSEAU NOT INCLUDED IN ST. PAUL DE METIS RESERVATION

T. A. Lavole, referring to the paragraph in Friday's Capital regarding the petition for the granting of a license at either Brouseau or Duvernay, states that Brouseau is not, as previously stated, within the "dry" district covering four townships in the neighborhood of St. Paul de Metis. Brouseau is 25 miles from St. Paul.

Petitions both for and against the granting of a license at Brouseau or Duvernay have been received by the attorney-general's department.

LAI D CHARGE FOR "FUN" AND ARRESTED ON PERJURY CHARGE

In the district court today Judge Taylor issued arrest warrants for the apprehension of Peter Mitchell and Rosie Mitchell on charges of perjury.

The arrests are a sequel to the hearing of a charge against Alex Ranko of assaulting the girl Ranko was dismissed, the witness against him being unconvincing. Subsequently, it is stated, Mitchell and his daughter both admitted that they had the charge against Ranko "for fun."
